Protracted Conference This Morning Result of Investigation.

There was a lengthy session of the exec utive council of the American Federation of Labor at Typographical Temple this morning. The members assembled at 9 o'clock promptly and did not adjourn for unch until near'y half-past 1 o'clock this

During the morning the council took up the case of the American Agents' Association, the destinies of which have been presided over by Mr. C. H. Sidener. The council decided to revoke the charter of the asociation as a national organization, but the decision does not prevent any local union of bona fide character, which was connected with the agents' association, connected with the agents' association, from becoming directly affiliated with the Federation of Labor.

The motion to revoke the charter of the Sidener organization was made at the meeting of the federation last December in Detroit. A committee appointed at that time to investigate the affairs of the association reported that after a fair and impartial reto investigate the affairs of the association reported that after a fair and impartial review of a considerable amount of evidence it was deemed advisable for the welfare of the federation and the best interests of organized labor to recommend that the charter of affiliation between the federation and the agents' association be annulled, and to recommend that all firms or business concerns on the unfair list of the A. F. of L. by request of the organization in question be removed from the unfair list. The recommendations of the committee were approved by the council in their entirety.

Brief Session Yesterday.

The sessions of the council yesterday were brief. Mr. D. Douglas Wilson, vice president of the Machinists' International Association, made a report regarding the dispute existing between the machinists and their employers of Chicago, Ill.; Co-lumbus, Ohio, and other places. The situ-ation was presented in a comprehensive form, indicating the alleged unfair attitude of the employers in insisting that the men 40 bu. Coke, crushed....$3.70 by must return to work as a requisite to submitting matters in dispute to arbitration. Assurances of assistance within the power of the federation were given. The dispute between the Machinists' International Association and the International Typographical Union was considered, and a committee of three appointed to meet like committees of both organizations in the near future.

In regard to the jurisdiction between the Brewery Workmen's National Union and the International Brotherhood of Stationery Firemen, it-was decided that all organizations of firemen now in existence and attached to the former organization should maintain their present status, but that in future all new unions formed shall become part of the latter international organizapart of the latter international organiza-tion, and that this should apply equally to tion, and that this should apply equally to brewery engineers.

An appropriation of $250 was made in addition to the $500 already appropriated for the legal defense of the miners, who, it is alleged, were imprisoned in a "bull pen" in Idaho. It was further decided that an investigation be conducted supplementary to the investigation now being conducted by the military committee of the House of Representatives in regard to the violation of the rights of the citizens of Idaho.

Examination of Accounts

Examination of Accounts. A subcommittee of the executive council reported having examined the accounts and the affairs of the office, showing that there were now 540 volunteer organizers and fifteen salaried organizers directly emoyed by the American Federation of ployed by the American Federation of Labor. This does not include the organizers of the national and international unions. It was shown that for the past five months he national and international unions had ssued charters to 730 local unions. Continuing, the committee's report says:

"This high rate of increase continued up to October 31, and was so reported to the Detroit convention. Commencing with the iscal year, November 1, 1890, and ending he 19th of this month, we have issued 277 charters against $2$ during the same period of the last fiscal year—one charter more han a three-fold increase. During the first charters against $2 during the same period of the Jast fiscal year—one charter more than a three-fold increase. During the first nineteen days of this month we have issued 76, an indication that more than 100 will be issued from this office this month. "The receipts from per capita tax up to the 1st of March were $10,932.06, against $1,703.16 last year. We have received for supplies $1,190.50, against $1,257.46 of last year. The receipts from all sources for the four months up to March 1 were $16. the four months up to March 1 were $16,-028.86; the expenses, $18.980.38, which, with comparison with tabulated statements made below, you will find that the receipts and expenses are double the amount received and expended during the same period last year."

In Behalf of Legislation. A balance on hand of $14,972.30 was shown by the report.

As stated in The Star, members of the ouncil yesterday afternoon visited the chairman of the committee on labor of the House of Representatives, Representative John J. Gardner, and other members of Congress regarding the eight-hour bill and prison labor bill. An interview of over an prison labor bill. An interview of over an hour was had with Speaker Henderson, when the merits of the eight-hour bill, antiwhen the merits of the eight-hour bill, anti-injunction bill and the prison labor bill were gone into, and a request made for a day to be set soon for the consideration o-these bills. Speaker Henderson mani-fested apparent interest in the several bills, and discussed them and their several feat-ures, expressing, it is said, a favorable dis-position toward them.

All the study and effort of the past is reaping its reward. Compared with the first twenty days of any previous March the selling this year has been more than double. Praise is pleasant to hear-but this is the practical expression of preference. Compared with any previous season, though, we are showing double the variety-and almost double the value. Our best stock is before you now. Must be conspicuously unique to merit such a positive statement. So it is. From cheapest Suit to costliest-from $10 to $125-each style is an exclusive one-each grade is a superior one for the price. That's what it means to rule the market-to command the products of the most expert skill. That's what it means to lead-and there's no parallel with ours. The second best is not a close second. But even to such a stock comes specials—better values than can be regularly sold at the prices-and there are three such lots now on the racks. Norris, No. 331 C street northwest, was among the property recovered. The prisoner had admitted his guilt and said he committed the thefts because he needed money to pay his current expenses.

During the investigation of the case today it was found that the prisoner's picture is in Inspector Byrnes' book of criminals in New York. In the sketch of Dennett he is mentioned as a shoplifter, and the information is given that he served a sentence of seven months on Blackwell's Island. The detectives stated this afternoon that there will be about eight charges filed against Dennett. He will be given a trial in the Police Court tomorrow.

An Excrescence on the Hospital Sys-

To the Editor of The Evening Star: If there is an institution in the city needing a thorough cleaning out, it is the Emergency Hospital, and I, with a host of others was glad to read your editorial of the 19th and the communications of several citizens since. I need but to recall the treatment of my brother last summer, still fresh in the minds of many, to show what a wholesale amount of inability and utter disregard for humanity is practiced at this hospital. My brother's case was diagnosed as ordinary nose bleed, when he was, as a matter of fact, suffering from posterior hemorrhage. He was allowed to leave the hospital on foot, given a wad of cotton and told to lie on the grass in the park in case bleeding should commence again. The bleeding, in fact, had not stopped, and did not stop until after 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time nearly every drop of blood had left his body and it became necessary for our own physicians to transfuse hot salt water into his system. Another half hour or probably less and nothing could have saved him. My brother had requested one of the physicians at the hospital to telephone to me at The Star office, which he refused to do.

The time has surely come when the afference and measurement of this institution. gard for humanity is practiced at this has

which he refused to do.

The time has surely come when the affairs and management of this institution should undergo a thorough investigation. Until this is done all citizens should, as I propose to do, carry a card, so that in the event of an accident, we can attempt at least to say, as did the injured fireman on Louisiana avenue, "Don't take me to the Emergency Hospital." Personally I would prefer to die on the street unattended than to be subjected to treatment so frequently complained of against this institution.
